“ Just want to let you all know that I am at peace and although my heart aches and I miss daddy every second of my life that I'm doing good. I loved daddy so much and he was the best father a girl could ever ask for. Erika didnt have nearly as much time with him and didnt get a lot of time to bond like I did, but he shared so many memories with us and just those memories alone allow Erika to remember all that she needs. I remember a story that he told me when he came home from work...There was a little girl and one day she was crying. Her daddy got home and asked the girl what was wrong, she said that her pearl necklace had broken... He told her not to cry and wiped the tears off her face. Then her father pulled out a pearl necklace...only this one was made of real pearls. She hugged him and she was all better... This was one of my favorites. And his scary stories were awesome too! His favorite princess was Cinderella. But anyway he definitely left an impact on every person he met... Love you all

“ I only really started working with Brad at REDC ~6 months ago. I will sadly miss his smile. He was the guy who always asked what he could do for me to help my day. Brad always had a way of making work lighter and more fun, whether it was his music and terrible singing, or his genuine friendship for everyone he worked with. I was warned early on to not let Brad get in front of me in the canteen food line though. This was a good warning! I am so very sorry for your loss. My thoughts and prayers are with all of you. ~ Tammy Kever

“ I held Bradley when he was a baby. I watched him grow into such a fine young man. I helped him purchase his first house. He was always giving me that special smile and that great big bear hug whenever I saw him. What a special young man God has chosen as his special Angel. We will miss you Bradley.

“ Had wonderful fellowship with Brad on the REDC porch at work. We had a lot of laughs and sometimes had serious talks about life. He had a wonderful sense of humor that went with his smile. He spoke of a deep love of his family and children. I worked with his Dad Norm for years and when Brad came to work he naturally came to some of us "older guys" for advice. I was glad to be something of a mentor to him and in the course of that he came to be a good friend. After I retired and would visit REDC he always came to me and escorted me around and I know he missed me being there.

I will miss my young friend. See you later Brad.

“ Just a few weeks ago I went with Brad to buy his Mercedes. As always when I was with Brad there was a lot of laughing and cutting up with each other. I worked with Brad and always knew him as a person who loved others. He nearly always had something positive to say about friends and colleagues. I don't have just one special memory but many that I remember and have been reflecting on the last few days. I want his family to know that I will miss him dearly and will pray for each of them in the coming hours. I especially hate it that his girls will have to grow up without him. One thing for sure the world is a little darker today than it was when Brad was with us. God Bless you Karmen, Ariana, Erika, Norm and Bridget.
