“ Kendra,

The love and devotion you showed your mother through every season of her life was something truly special. You were more than a daughter — you were her caregiver, her comfort, her advocate, and her safe place. The patience, strength, and compassion you gave so freely reflected the deep love you had for her.

Caregiving is not easy. It requires sacrifice, exhaustion, and a kind of quiet strength most people never fully see. But your mother knew. She knew she was loved every single day.

May you find comfort in knowing you gave her one of life's greatest gifts: dignity, companionship, and unconditional love through her final journey. That is a legacy of love few people are fortunate enough to receive.

You and your family are in our thoughts and prayers during this heartbreaking time.

*With deepest sympathy,
Joni Marie*
