Candi had a beautiful smile. She had a joyous laugh. Her life was not always simple and like all she had hurdles and battles as well as sickness. But she also had triumphs. One of her precious memories was winning the silver medal as a teen in AAU basketball in Louisiana. Her grandmother went with her on that trip, and it was a memorable experience for both of them.

In a last conversation she said life was too short and we just needed to concentrate on being happy. That was one thing she had learned through all she had been through.

She is happy now, no more pain...
