“Ginger was my neighbor for many years on Gra-Roy Dr in Goshen, IN. Her parents were among the earliest living in that oak canopied location. I always enjoyed chatting with her while walking to the head gate of the millrace or seeing her fond cats.

“I have vivid memories of Ginger playing the guitar and singing scripture songs at Zion when I was a young girl. After seeing Eric's post, I was trying to remember a song she wrote that especially impacted me but couldn't. A couple of days later I woke up and could hear her singing every word. "For I know that my Redeemer, lives. He lives. He lives....And my eyes shall see Him in His glory. My face shall see Him as He is. For I know that my Redeemer, lives. He lives. He lives." (from Job 19:25,27)
How amazing to know she is seeing Jesus, her Redeemer, in all His glory!

“Ginger was my dear mother in law. Until she moved down to Sweetwater, I only knew her via phone calls and brief visits. When we finally got her here, I spent all of my time with her and got to know her very well. She could make me laugh out loud. I miss her more than she can ever know. The stories she shared with me on our trips across East Tennessee will stay in my heart and mind forever. Ginger, you were a pure gem and I miss you like crazy.

“ Nana will always hold a special place in my heart! She was a hoot and joy to be around. Her childlikeness never left her and I truly loved her rebellion to social norms. She matched to the best of her own drum and I think we can all learn from her in that. She loved talking about many different topics in the Bible and wouldn't grow weary even after hours of dialogue, another thing we can learn from her in. Her impact will always be with us and my tears may never dry up and she will not be forgotten. I am grateful for her astonishing memory and all the stories and great things she shared with me, they will be held like a gem to me. She gave me a Bible that I will always cherish and it may always be my favorite one now. I'll have to shop at Kroger more now too. That was her favorite store. Sleep tight Nana, we will all wake up at the same time!

“ Ginger was a wonderful lively part of our church family. My wife and I would often visit her and Eric and Tommy...then later with Merv and then Lincon. I still remember her raising a herd of Guinea pigs and watching them graze like cattle on their lawn. We loved you all so much but we lost contact when we moved to France where I still live. Praying for you boys and your families.

“ I was very privileged to know Ginger and she was married to my brother, Mervin. I loved talking with her on the phone and last August I called her from Grand Cayman Island 🏝️ and we talked till early morning; she was such a pleasure to know! In September husband, LeRoy & I visited her at her home in Sweetwater. She was loving it there & was so happy! My regrets are that I didn't spend enough time with her; I know that she's now in Heaven with Jesus, because she lived her life for Him. I'm sorry that I won't be present at her Celebration of Life on December 14; I'll be in Grand Cayman Island 🏝️
