“ Things that I remember about Glenda....

*Watching UT football and basketball.

*Her veins may have bled orange but she loved the color blue.

*Mom has had a Christmas party every year with a "dirty gift exchange". The first time I was able to attend, Glenda was also there. I thought she would be timid and not ever tried to steal a gift from anyone, especially since she didn't know most of the people there. But much to my surprise and pleasure, if she set her sights on something she had no hesitation about stealing it (more than once if necessary). Lol

*There was a time years ago that I had not seen Glenda for a long time. Steve and I did not live local for about 30 years and our visits didn't always coincide with times when Glenda was around. I was at Mom's and Glenda walked in and she looked so much like my grandmother (Mildred). After that, every time I saw Glenda I thought of my grandmother and the gift she was to our family.

*Over the past few years she would always share pictures of Jonathan and his family. She was very much the proud grandmother and mother. it worked out great for me because then I could show off my grandson. Lol

*She will be missed.
