“Tandy,, if you read this I would almost guess you would not remember me. But when your father was my neighbor in Nashville, he and I watched you play with my white german shepard. I had no idea anything had happened to Harry and it was a shock. I had spoken to him a few years ago and he was fine then and as full of his humor as always. All my best, and very very sorry for your loss even though it has been years, it was new to me.
