“ I know there are no words that anyone can say or anything that anyone can do to take your pain away. Just know that we are all sending our thoughts and prayers your way for you and your family! As your best friend I have never met someone so strong. Please know that God will send you peace and comfort in time. God will never leave or for sake us! The pain will never get easier, but with time it will be easier to cope with! Little Lane is flying high watching over you!
