“ It was always a pleasure when I encountered Jim at the Cedar Bluff Library. As he pleasantly checked out my books, or took my request, we chatted about the books. I liked his insight. I will miss his smile, his wisdom and his obvious love of books. My life is better for having known him.

“ Kari and I had the pleasure of working with Jim at the Cedar Bluff Library. He always had a smile on his face and took an interest in the small children with small tokens of one sort or another that he gave to the little ones as they stood looking up at him across the counter. We enjoyed the special Christmas Parties at Jim's home that we were priveledged to attend.
He will be sorely missed by ALL who had the opportunity to know him!
Warm regards to his family,
Kari and Ken

“ I worked with Jim at the Cedar Bluff Library. He was the most wonderful person I have met in a long time. He was always very helpful and friendly. All the staff loved Jim with his quiet humor and love for everything he did. He has made many projects that still hang in our library. We have a rowboat, a space ship, a submarine, and a very large library book. We will never forget Jim and all the hard work he gave to the Library during his time with us. Staff and patrons alike will miss his very much.

I knew Jim when he was a young man. Jim's parents, Marge and Jim were my parents best friends. I am 81 (1942) and when my mom went to the hospital to have my sister Kristin, Marge and Jim watched me. I remember the young Jim (a few years younger than me and very good in art). I'm so glad he got to be an artist! And a career in library science. He was a sensitive young man. I remember he wanted to study art, but Jim senior wanted him to be in the military. Sounds like Jim the son was a wonderful man and well loved by those who knew him. I became an artist too.
