“ It's cold today. I'm watching football and thought of you. Today you'd call and tell me to keep warm.

We would talk about football and I'd bring you something warm to eat later. You'd be excited for thanksgiving and Christmas because all you want is your family to be with one another. I'm sorry you aren't here to see it dad.. I know it's me missing you not being here and you're so much happier walking the streets of gold, but it's still hard. I love and miss you. Not a day goes by that I don't think of you. I'm trying to carry out our dreams. We had a sock drive for the homeless at work, and we made food boxes for thanksgiving for the needy. As you always said, feed a stomach, feed a soul. My soul was fed through helping. Sometimes I get really upset that it's not fair you aren't here with me. One of my best friends and loved me unconditionally. I wish we had more good years with one another but I'm so thankful for the time God gave us.

“ I can say James Dennis was a kind man that loved his family. Dennis and I met through his son Zachary and we became good friends. On many occasions we would sit and talk for hours. Dennis expressed his love and faith for Christ and love for his children. After moving to Englewood and Dennis relocating to a care facility I was unable to visit with him however his friendship will never be forgotten. My prayers and sympathy to his family.

“ It’s been a week since you went home with Jesus. I keep hearing “hey baby, it’s daddy” how I miss you so. We would have been discussing yesterdays football and todays rainy weather. I’d make sure you heard me say I love you and you’d say, I love you more than you know. I’m so selfish and wish you were here with me.
