“ Joyce and I were close childhood friends. We walked many miles (all summer long) between our two houses on Campbellsville Pike in Columbia, Tn. We listened to records, played 'school' in a little building that was at the side of her house, started Molopoly games that could sometimes continue for several days and shared feelings that we would not have told anyone else. Mrs. Scribner never wanted Joyce to cut any of her beautiful curly hair... So when it grew too long, Joyce would cut off a bit at a time (only a little so her mother wouldn't notice) and then I would stuff the curls into my pockets to take home and throw away. Joyce played the music for my wedding, I was a bridesmaid in her's. We would have never dreamt that between the two of us girls we would have 25 grandchildren! I truly regret we allowed time and space to shorten friendship. My life was much richer knowing Joyce, and her family- both the Scribners and the Pauls. My sincere sympathy to each one who suffered her loss. My heart is heavy, knowing she is no longer with you- you will be blessed by her sweet memory. Sincerely-with love, Beverly Early

Beverly, I don't know why I am just now seeing this! Mom told me all about your childhood friendship (usually every time we looked at her wedding album together), but she never mentioned the clandestine haircuts!! What a wonderful story!

“ Joyce was a pleasant and congenial person who was eager to offer her hospitality and friendship whenever we could share times together as grandparents in common. At times it would seem that her serious mobility issues might hinder her enjoyment at family events, but her sweet disposition , together with her stoic resolve , always prevailed. We admired the strength that appeared despite her physical frailty . Joyce drew that support from her Lord, her Rock and Redeemer. We cherish our mutual friendship as we lovingly recall the mutual delight we shared in our twin grandsons . Blessed is her memory and may the Lord comfort all of us who mourn her loss!
