

Lynn Lavinia Wright

November 20, 1946 - October 6, 2024

Lynn Lavinia Wright died on October 6th, 2024 at the age of 77 after a brief illness. Lynn was born on November 20, 1946, near Clarksburg, West Virginia to the late Wilbur and Luella Dye.

Lynn started college at the University of Dar es Salam in Tanzania and completed her undergraduate degree at the University of Washington in Seattle. After obtaining her Masters at Ohio State, Lynn joined the Oak Ridge National Laboratory in the Environmental Sciences division in 1974. Over her long career she served as a research scientist and short rotation woody crops program manager. She also served on an international energy committee that led to her traveling all over the world.

Lynn was very active at Luminary Methodist Church in Ten Mile where she served as Worship Chair for many years.

Lynn is survived by her husband of 44 years, Paul Alan Wright and her brothers and sister, Eric Dye, Tom Dye, Dennis Dye and Mary Beth Humes. She had one daughter, Michelle Fransioli. Grandchildren are Evangeline Rey Fransioli and Piper Quinn Fransioli.

In lieu of flowers, the family kindly asks for donations to the Nature Conservancy, Habitat for Humanity or Luminary Church. Kyker Funeral Home of Kingston is serving the Wright Family.

“ I knew Lynn and Paul a long time ago. It was before and just following their wedding, so over 40 years ago. Enjoyed both of them and will hold Paul and the family in my prayers. Great folks! Andrea Zava
