

Miss Lyodia C. Prigmore

October 22, 2004

Miss Lyodia C. Prigmore departed this life Friday, October 22, 2004 at the Cookeville Regional Medical Center, Cookeville, Tennessee. She was the eldest of three daughters born to professor C. Claiborne and Mrs. Olivia Lee Mayette Prigmore. She attended the Tennessee School for the Blind in Nashville, Tennessee where she was an honor student. She learned to read Braille very fluently and also studied voice and the piano. She was a faithful member of the First United Church of Christ in Sweetwater, Tennessee where she was a member of the Sanctuary Choir, active in Sunday school and served for many years as the President of the Rose of Sharon Club. In the community, she would give mini-concerts at Nursing Homes and read stories in Braille to children at the library by request or invitation. A native of Sweetwater, Tennessee, she also lived part of her life in Athens, Tennessee where she was very active in Athens Chapter of the Tennessee Council of the Blind and served as its President for many years. She was also active at the State level.

Miss Prigmore leaves to cherish her memory a devoted sister, Dr. Rubye P. Torrey; a kind brother-in-law, Mr. C. A. Torrey; a loving, caring niece, Ms. Claudia O.

Torrey, Esq. All of Nashville and Cookeville, Tennessee; a loving nephew, Mr. Michael Torrey, Chicago, Illinois; many cousins, other relatives and friends
