“ I will always remember her looking her best for when guest came over. Her hospitality was like no other. I remember visiting her and making her laugh at random moments. Her conversations and request where the best. She was and still will be a beautiful women. I pray you are dancing in the prime of your youth with your loved ones. I know you look down on us and we will strive to continue making you proud. The best memory I have would be when I kissed your forehead and made you smile and that you always cared enough to ask how I have been and how I am doing. There will definitely be no replacement for the love and kindness you have shown myself and many others. Rest In Peace Mary. You may be gone physically but your with us in our hearts and you will never be forgotten. Your memories and stories will live on through generations. ❤️

“ Words cannot express how much I miss you! I don't even know what to feel right now as I feel so sad and so happy at the same time. I've always told you that you would live to be 100 and you would say " oh goodness I don't want to be that old" and I would tell you that you had no choice. I remember how you always told me that you hoped to live long enough to see me have the little boy I always wanted. You got to spend 5 years with him and he loves you so much! Braeln seems to think she will eventually beat me at Monopoly but she doesn't realized I learned from the best. Its gonna be hard to get used to not hearing my "Marilyn Monroe" Birthday call every year. I never ran out of ideas on what to buy you as a gift because your personality was so unique and bright just like the things you loved. I know you are up with the Lord and Grandpa, and I know you must be telling them all about "Your Babies". I'm sure you had your eyebrows done, lipstick, and beautiful curls along with your pearls on when you went met back up with Grandpa. I miss you my beautiful Grammie. I hurt because I won't get to see you anymore, but you have left me with so many memories to smile on. So many memories that will flood me everyday of my life with everything I do. Its not going to be the same without you that's for sure, but I know when the pain fades I will have nothing but laughter and stories to tell. After all I do tend to take after you on just about everything. I love you Grammie to the moon, the stars, the planet and back! Until we see each other again. -Mallori
