“ Granny was such a sweet, loving soul. She used to tell stories all the time of when she was younger, and I will always remember her long "goodbyes". It's funny, but my own child does a similar routine every night at bedtime that's always reminded me of Granny's long goodbyes. Her love lives on through those she loved.

“ Nanny made me who I am today. She gave me the love I needed as a child and let me know someone cared. She showed me that I could do anything, make anything, if I thought about it hard enough and tried. She was gifted at making things. She used to make cushioned doll furniture with a handsaw, hammer, nails and left over fabric. I am a professional artist and I know I got my ability to make wonderful things from very little from her.

“ My grandmother, Granny Carter, never, ever left anyone's presence (even if she met you once) without a hug and “I love you“. The sweetest sole I've ever known, who never complained about a thing. An angel received her wings, much love, miss you Granny-Nathan
