“ We are very sorry for your loss. Pleas rest assured that your friends and family want to be there for you during this difficult time. Like it says at Proverbs 17:17, "A true friend is loving at all times, and a brother who is born during times of distress." For added comfort please continue to throw your anxieties on God because He does care for you (1 Peter 5:7). May your loving memories bring you a smile during the tough moments. You have our sincerest condolences.

“ To the family of Rex. My sincere and heartfelt condolences. In high school, I was best friends with Ann, Rex's older sister. Whenever we would go to Ann's house, Rex was always a "nice" baby brother. He mostly left us alone. Always thought, he was just the cutest boy. Since then, of course, we have lost touch. I do remember one time when I was visiting my mother, who lived on Carter Street. I was on the sidewalk playing with my mom's dog and Rex drove by. He stopped and got out of the car and visited for awhile. It had been a long time since I had seen him and he was such a sweetie. He looked upon the porch and waved to Mom and she thought that was very thoughtful of him. She thought he was such a nice young man. My thoughts are with you and again I am so saddened by his passing. May God comfort each of you in His own way.

With Love,

“ To the entire Harmon family,
I was so sorry to hear of Rex's passing. He and I are the same age. I live outside of Houston, and work for GE Oil & Gas (for more than 30 years), but still have very fond memories the fine folks of Harriman and mostly of slumber parties at Ann's house. Sherri Madden, Janie (my sister) and I use to frequently spend the night in Ann's basement eating popcorn and drinking soda's. Rex was always a gentlemen and didn't want to have anything to do with us girls, he stayed in his room. Shirley would come down to the basement to check on us, to make sure we were behaving ourselves, which of course we were. We were very boring young ladies (mostly driving up and down Roane Street for hours at a time). I pray that God will send his Angels to comfort you during this very difficult time. May God Bless all of you, again I am so very sorry for your loss.

With respect,

“ Rex was a gentle soul and a gentleman even as a boy. So I believe was just as same as a man. He is with God now no doubt but his influence will live on here through his children and grandchildren. God bless the family. Rest in peace old friend.

“ Growing up Rex, Mike Whitten, Neil Kyker, would ride our motorcycles out and around swan pond. Fond memories of those days. Some of the best times of my life. Godspeed my friend. Run free.
