“ My father, John Richard Moore, known as "Dick Moore", to those at Maryville College, knew Ruby and her sister Brownie. Ruby corresponded with my father for many years. He enjoyed writing to her and receiving her letters in return. I don't believe that he was able to write for the last couple of years as his health declined. He passed away in June, just over a month before Ruby. I am sure that you miss her as much as we miss John. I am going through all the correspondance that he kept over the years and overwhelmed by the friendships that they both maintained with former students at Maryville.
